Not all uniforms are created equal

It is easy to assume that uniform for each school is sourced from only one manufacturer and is the same across all the suppliers – it may appear the same in pictures/images, but mostly there will be subtle differences in fabric composition, fabric weight and/or the manufacturing process.

Do check the uniforms in person if possible and compare for yourself.

We aim to bring you the best uniform that will last term after term and possibly a couple of years until grown out of, where it can continue its life for a sibling or on the second-hand market.

We won't be beaten on the quality of our uniforms, or our customer service.

What our customers say...

“All the kit you need and an excellent service. We were in and out the door with everything we needed within 30mins. Would most definitely come here for any of my uniforms needs.”

Heidi

“Thank you so much great service and my little one was so happy to try on and look in the mirror. Amazing and friendly.”

Clare

“Extremely helpful and knew exactly what we would need, my daughter was able to try a number of different sizes so was happy with everything that was bought.”

Cath

When to buy your uniform for September

This is my thirteenth year working in school uniform retail and every summer-time is unbelievably busy for the whole schoolwear industry which peaks in the last two weeks of the summer holidays.

Once again, we will be operating our popular one to one school uniform fitting appointments from June onwards. To guarantee your place, get booked in as spaces are limited.

I fully understand the pitfalls of buying uniform too early - will it still fit come September if he/she has a growth spurt? I and all the other school wear retailers know that the nearer we get to September and some sizes sell out there's very little chance of fulfilling orders in time for the start of school, particularly if the item is 'bespoke' and made to order, this is more typical with some secondary school uniform pieces.

This is not meant to scare you in to buying right now, but just to be mindful that leaving it too late - wherever you choose to shop, might not be the best plan.

My honest advice is to get your child in to try uniform on throughout July and buy with a little growing room if needed.
